Limestone

Limestone has long remained a flooring solution. Natural limestone underfoot has a luxurious appearance and feel. Limestone continues to be used as tiles for floorings, wall cladding, and vanity tops. It is also popularly used for flooring in commercial spaces like airports, hospital corridors, malls, railway stations, etc. The softened tones of limestone are perfect for today's more casual and comfortable lifestyles. Generally, either polished or honed soft beige and tans are appropriate for bathrooms, fireplaces, counters, and less-traveled flooring where a more informal decor is desirable.

Granite & Quartzite

If you are looking for a natural stone with great strength, good looks, and an elegant finish, granite & quartzite are the go-to solution. Granite & Quartzite have great structural benefits as they are some of the hardest substances available and frequently used in foundations, floors, and walls. They are widely acknowledged for their aesthetic value and are the right fit for any residential, light commercial, or industrial project. Granite and quartzite remain popular surface choices in new-age construction due to their durability and overall pleasant aesthetics. Fine-grained granite is used for ornamental and monumental work, as well as for inscription purposes. They are ideal for fabricating countertops, floorings, staircases, vanities, and exterior landscaping. They are a maintenance-free stone and can withstand years of use. Granite & quartzite are hard igneous rocks and chiefly comprise mica, quartz, and feldspar, and a wide variety of minerals give them different patterns and various colors.

Travertines

If you are looking to bring an earthly feeling into your space, travertine is the stone you want. Over the years, travertine has been favored as a flooring solution due to its relatively straightforward maintenance and reasonable price.

Travertine has been a famous stone for centuries, with some of the most renowned quarries in Tivoli and Montecelio in Italy. It has enormous architectural significance as it was the stone used to build the St. Peter's Square in Rome and also St. Peter's Basilica.

Travertine is being used as tiles of varied sizes in modern architecture to make multiple tile patterns. It is an excellent stone for doing walls, floors, bathrooms, and kitchen. The multiple tiles give the space a different character from colored stones.
